

ACUTE RELIEF PROBLEM FACES CITY, COUNTY

Director John Abel Calls Situation Most Troublesome in Two and One-Half Years.

SEEKS GOVERNOR'S HELP

Learns State Can't Give Assistance Now; WPA Angle Studied.

Marion city and county face what John Abel, county director, declares to be the most troublesome problem of the two and one-half years, he was searching today for a solution.

As evidence of the gravity of the situation, Mr. Abel reported that he had taken up the city and county relief problem with Governor Davey by telephone yesterday. At least a 50 per cent reduction in relief standards will be made necessary, throwing relief families on their own resources. If a solution is not found to supplement available funds, Mr. Abel said.

He pointed out that the problem was aggravated when approximately 55 families were thrown back on relief by WPA layoffs. There he said, were due to failure of the city and county subdivisions to provide sponsors funds for projects the government has approved.

Levy Proposal Studied
As a result of efforts of a special committee appointed by R. T. Lewis, chamber of commerce president, to study the WPA problem, the suggestion has been made that a special city levy be offered in order to raise funds for WPA projects.

With less than $3,000 available to feed Marion county's relief load of more than 3,000 persons in July, it is plain that each person must get on little more than $1 for the month if additional funds are not found, Mr. Abel said.

The relief load is comprised of 54 families, averaging four persons and 136 single men who are certified as unemployable by their attending physicians.

In a telephone conversation with Governor Davey yesterday afternoon, Mr. Abel said he learned that the only remote possibility of any financial help from the state is present. Funds now available are derived from a state relief appropriation expiring July 31, after which time a new setup is expected.

Mr. Abel quoted Governor Davey as saying the situation rests entirely with the legislature. He said he refuses to accept any responsibility but that six weeks ago he anticipated conditions of the sort existing here and had then requested the legislature to make into law.

House Continues Struggle With Relief Measure

Leaders at Columbus Won't Predict When Bill Will Be Ready for Action.

By The Associated Press
COLUMBUS, O., June 18—A weary house finance committee battled again today over the controversial and drastic new relief bill seeking to adjust its provisions to an anticipated addition of $2,000,000 to its original proposed $2,000,000 appropriation.

The house bill was scheduled to come to a vote at 1:30 p. m. to start debate on the new measure, but House Finance Committee Chairman Julian W. Schell, Democrat of Putnam, refused to predict that it would be ready by then.

Schell said he expected the additional $2,000,000 to come from a balance of that much in the general revenue at the end of the year. "We have reason to believe," he said, "there will be at least that much available as a result of increased tax collections and other payments."

Legislators sympathetic to the demands of welfare leaders took advantage of the report to add additional funds available by starting a movement yesterday to increase from $12 to $14 the maximum monthly family allowance.

Welfare leaders have called the maximum a "starvation" rate and that of "a Chinese slave."

Rep. Marzel Levan, Democrat of Putnam, introduced a companion bill to establish state relief standards necessary to maintain life in health and decency.

He would require cash allotments for housing, food, clothing, medical and dental care, recreation, household goods and equipment, and carrying charges on homes owned or owned by relief clients, transportation and communi-

OHIO DRY AREAS WELCOME RAIN

Last Night's Downpour Comes as Virtual Life Saver to Crops.

MORE URGENTLY NEEDED

Marion County Situation is Favorable While Drought Menaces Other Localities.

Marion county farm crops, although not suffering from a drought that has gripped some parts of the state, welcomed one-tenth of an inch of rainfall last night.

In some sections of Ohio, last night's statewide shower came as virtually a life savor to crops. The Associated Press reported.

In Marion county, occasional light showers through April, May and the first half of June have helped crops, although the yield is not expected to measure up to average, a checkup showed.

S. L. Anderson, county farm agent, said crops are "not suffering" from lack of rainfall, according to reports received at his office. He added that "any rainfall helps."

Rainfall Favorable Here
Whereas some parts of Ohio have been without rain for periods of several weeks, Marion weather records show that 4.91 inches of rain fell in occasional showers in April and May and 1.86 inches has been recorded since June 1.

Meanwhile, farm observers looked to predictions of continued general showers throughout the state for relief from a drought, described in one section as the worst since 1930.

The drought has been burning up all southern Ohio crops. The Associated Press reported.

H. C. Ramsower, agricultural extension chief at Ohio State university, declared a good fall would rescue almost all crops but meadows in southeastern and southern Ohio.

Louis-Schmeling Fight Postponed By Wet Weather

By The Associated Press
NEW YORK, June 18—Rain today caused postponement of Joe Louis' 15 round heavyweight bout with Max Schmeling at the Yankee stadium until tomorrow night.

A steady rain that started early today and weather bureau predictions that showers would continue throughout the day and night led promoter Mike Jacobs to announce the postponement. Originally the bout was to have been held tonight.

The postponement came a few minutes after Schmeling and Louis had been weighed in.

The Detroit-Detroit Bomber out-weighed Schmeling by six pounds as weighing-in ceremonies were held at the Hippodrome. Louis weighed 182 pounds; Schmeling 192.

Jacobs said that in the event of further rain tomorrow he would try to hold the fight Saturday, possibly in the afternoon if that can be arranged.

Ohio Heat, Storm Take 8 Lives

JOHN H. PERRY HOME STRUCK

Hole Torn in Wall, Chimney Shattered by Bolt During Storm.

TREES IN CITY DAMAGED

Heat Wave Broken Suddenly, Dropping Mercury 29 Degrees.

A Marion residence was damaged by lightning and several trees and tree limbs were reported blown down in Marion and vicinity in last night's statewide wind and electrical storm.

The John H. Perry residence at 720 Bexley avenue was struck by lightning, that knocked a small hole in the south wall and tore off a six-foot section of a double chimney. Mrs. Perry, lying on a davenport, reading, in a north room of the house, was slightly dazed by the bolt but was able to go to a neighbor's home.

The bolt struck about 9 o'clock, opening a six-inch hole in the south wall near the ceiling of the first floor room. Plastering was scattered over the room.

Strong wind snapped tree limbs and felled a tree on the Kenton road west of here that severed electric power lines serving LaRue and vicinity where Governor Davey was obliged to finish a campaign talk by candle light.

At several places in the city, large limbs were blown down. The wind and one-tenth of an inch of rainfall that accompanied it broke a heat wave that sent the mercury up to 83 in Marion yesterday. Last night's low was 64.

Government weather observers predicted fair and cooler weather would continue tonight with fair and somewhat warmer weather in line for Friday.

A year ago, the temperature ranged between a high of 80 and a low of 63.

Marion Resident in Fatal Picnic Party

A Marion resident was a member of a picnic party near Columbus yesterday at which Frank Miksch, 30, was drowned. The Associated Press reported today.

The Marion person in the party was listed as Kay Cornmeffer, but inquiry here today failed to furnish any information about the Marion address.

Miksch was drowned in the Scioto river. Others in the party in addition to the Marion resident were Robert Barr and Catherine Vernon.

Lima Hospital Prisoner Holds Guards At Bay

Inmate Brandishes Revolver To Resist Search After Wife Is Arrested.

By The Associated Press
LIMA, O., June 18—Brandishing a loaded revolver, Ray Hall, 36, of Cincinnati held four attendants of the Lima state hospital for criminal insane at bay early today until disarmed by another inmate, officials disclosed several hours later.

The gun missed fire twice when Hall attempted to shoot.

The diary of a woman, identified by Sheriff Ralph Marshall as Hall's wife, Mary, 46, led hospital attendants to a dormitory in which Hall slept.

Attendants J. D. Hostettler and L. H. Gofarth were met by Hall who threatened them with the revolver. When D. C. Waters, another attendant, appeared, Hall tried to fire the weapon, but a cartridge did not explode.

John Robinson, day attendant, sleeping nearby, was aroused by the commotion, but he was lined up by Hall with the other hospital employees.

Fred Fortney of Cincinnati, an inmate since 1927, then approached Hall, who told him "You're a dead man." Hall pulled the trigger again, but the gun failed a second time to discharge.

Fortney knocked Hall to the floor of the dormitory and obtained the weapon.

The attendants found 50 other cartridges hidden among Hall's belongings.

Supl. R. E. Bushong ordered Hall placed in solitary confinement and began an investigation to determine how the inmate obtained the gun.

Davey Defends All Phases of Record in LaRue Talk

Audience of 650 Hears Governor's First Campaign Talk Since May 12 Primary.

BY BOB HARRIS
Marion Star Staff Writer
What might be regarded as the opening gun in Gov. Davey's November election campaign was fired last night when he spoke to approximately 650 persons at a district-wide party rally and public meeting at the LaRue high school auditorium.

The governor, in his first political talk since the May 12 primary, reviewed his year and a half in office, asserted his administration has attained new levels of efficiency and economy in state government and issued a blanket challenge to "point to one department that's bad and tell me what's wrong with it."

The rally was sponsored by the western division of the Marion county Democratic club. Prior to the talk, Gov. Davey was guest of the LaRue Businessmen's Association at a banquet in the school auditorium. He spoke briefly at the banquet, praising the spirit found in small-town communities and saying, "I hope to live in my home small town, except for the next two years."

The governor was obliged to finish his campaign talk in candle light when an electrical storm cut off electric service in LaRue. It had been planned to hold the rally out-of-doors, but rainfall made it necessary to move the meeting inside.

The governor was introduced at the banquet by Russell M. Wilhelm of Marion and at the rally by Fred E. Guthrie of Marion.

Reviews Program
In his political talk at the rally, the governor asked his listeners to review with him the major points of the program he slated to follow a year-and-a-half ago, saying it centered around three main provisions: (1) a minimum amount of new legislation, (2) good business management of state government and (3) genuine economy with avoidance of new taxes.

Regarding new legislation, he said the school foundation program had been passed to cure a situation in which 10,000 Ohio teachers, nearly a fourth of all teachers in the state, were not being paid and were without hope of getting their pay. Under the state program, the state government will furnish almost $500,000 of the $85,000,000 annually required to operate Ohio schools, he said.

He also spoke of new conservation laws, asserting that, for the first time in Ohio, "sportsmen are getting a break." New laws place all proceeds from license sales into the division, give the conservation division council broad powers and furnish it with approximately $400,000 in overdue funds. He asserted his administration has seen the division advance from one of the poorest in the nation to one of the best.

Makes Efficiency Claims
Of business management, he spoke in detail, asserting the administration has attempted to achieve efficiency as well as economy. He praised highway department handling of heavy winter snows and the work of the highway and health departments, the National Guard and the highway patrol during the heavy floods as examples of efficiency in government units. The insurance department, set up to examine fire insurance companies selling policies in this state, has been brought to a new level of efficiency, he asserted, adding, "We've broken up the fake claim racket in Ohio—watch how the fire insurance rates drop as a result of that."

He spoke of the operations of the state building and loan administration, which he interrupted the trend of his talk to say: "Here's a blanket challenge to all the people of Ohio and especially to our opponents: Name me one department that's bad and tell what's wrong with it. No one has."

BODIES OF TWO STILL MISSING

Strong Wind Sweeps Over State from Region of Lake Erie.

FISHERMEN, BATHERS HIT

Storm Brings Climax to Sweltering Day; Mercury at High Mark.

By The Associated Press
Police and coast guards hunted today for a 60-year-old man and a 14-year-old boy, who were reported missing after a 48-mile-an-hour wind swept in from Lake Erie at Cleveland last night, endangering boaters and fishermen along the lakefront and ending temporarily, at least, a heat wave which ranged as high as 103 degrees in some parts of the state.

The sweltering day which contributed indirectly to the drowning of eight persons in Ohio's rivers and streams was climaxed in most parts of the state by thunder and rain storms.

Lake Shore Hit
The heaviest storms apparently struck along the lake shore. Trees were blown down in Toledo and Ashtabula. Forty boats manned by fishermen or persons seeking relief from the heat were caught in the storm at Cleveland and coast guards were kept busy rescuing stranded boaters from the breakers.

The man and boy missing at Cleveland had been fishing with Leslie Bennethum, 41. They were Henry Bender, about 60, and Norman Malacek, 14. Bennethum was rescued after his motor boat capsized in the high waves.

"The last I saw Henry and Norman they had strapped life preservers about them," Bennethum said at the hospital where he was taken. "Then the waves hit us."

The boat was found upside down with a string of fish trailing from one end.

All available men at the Cleveland coast guard station put out in boats when the storm broke. Occupants of many small boats were picked up by owners of larger craft.

Streets were blocked by uprooted trees at Waukegan and lights were out in many homes for about an hour last night. Nearly a dozen houses were destroyed between Waukegan and Delta. The temperature reached 98 degrees at 6 p. m. in Toledo, the highest of the season, and dropped to 62 two hours later.

A temperature of 90 was recorded in Cleveland yesterday, the highest of the year. A 97 was recorded at Cincinnati, the highest for the day since the bureau was established in 1871. A shower brought it down to 70 last night.

Other temperatures: Youngstown, 91; Akron, 80; Columbus, 87; Dayton, 87; Gallipolis, 106.

Lightning struck the Third Street Baptist church in Dayton, setting the auditorium afire. A heavy hail storm struck the outlying sections of Cincinnati.

Three boys drowned in the Cincinnati area yesterday. Earl Randall, 15, of Dayton, Ky., was thrown into the Ohio river when his home-made kayak upset and lost his life; Nelson Mason, 16, of Cincinnati, got beyond his depth while swimming in the Ohio and disappeared; Joseph Geck, 12, drowned when he slipped into a gravel pit while fishing.

Frank Micksch, 30, drowned in the Scioto river at Columbus while attempting a picnic.

Micksch and three companions had gone to a spot beside the Scioto river for a picnic supper. The others were: Catherine Vernon of Columbus, Kay Cornmeffer of Marion, and Robert Barr of Columbus.

Barr told sheriff's deputies that Micksch saw the light of a home across the river and told them he was going to swim over to it.

Barr, unable to swim, tried to plunge in after Micksch, he said, but the two girls held him back.

Micksch is survived by three brothers, Carl, Warner and Ernest, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Micksch of Lancaster.

Russell Schaeffer, 19, freshman at Otterbein college, drowned in Alum creek, north of Westerville, while swimming.

Eugene Hayes, 8, fell from a bridge over Shawnee creek near Xenia and drowned before help could reach him.

George D. Kennedy Jr., 9, of Dayton, lost his life in the Miami river while bathing.

Michale Wasko, 15, of Akron, was the eighth victim. He lost his life in an abandoned clay pit while swimming with two companions.

NEW TAX MEASURE NEARS FINAL ACTION

Conferees Declare Agreement Near on Far-Reaching Corporation Measure.

By The Associated Press
WASHINGTON, June 18—A far-reaching new system of taxation on the nation's corporations and dividends was declared almost ready for final congressional action today after weeks of nerve-straining debate and conferences.

Exact details were withheld pending a final drawing up today of a compromise in a senate-house conference, but it was revealed that the conferees had agreed tentatively on the most controversial angle of the proposed revenue bill.

This was the question of taxing undistributed earnings of corporations. The tentative agreement, reached in a session late last night, was as follows:

Men Shot as Vans Loaded With Workers Dash Through Plant Gates.

COMPANY ASKS FOR HELP

Adjutant General Sends National Guard Observers to Scene of Disorders.

By The Associated Press

KENT, O., June 18—With at least five men wounded in an early morning outbreak of gun fire, the strike-closed plant of the Black & Decker Electric Co. was in a state of siege today as union sympathizers beat rifle bullets intermittently into the factory.

Police Chief St. Clair West said strike sympathizers were firing upon the plant from three sides. He estimated between 100 and 150 men armed with high-powered rifles were "sniping" from vantage points. He claimed their fire was not returned from company property.

William Crayford, local president of the International Association of Machinists, claimed the flareup occurred as about 30 men roared through company gates under a tear gas barrage affecting a score of strikers.

List of Wounded
The known wounded are: John Pustosky, 40, shot in the leg; Al Gray, 26, shotgun pellet wound in the face; J. W. Pomeroy, 47, minor shotgun pellet wound, all union members, and two workers whose names were not available, wounded on company property.

William Dick, 24, claimed to have been "snatched" by a bullet and Harry Root, 30, was injured slightly when struck in the face by a tear gas shell.

Observers said probably a score of sympathizers armed with rifles were firing on the factory from vantage points near a high fence surrounding the premises.

The plant's large water tank, pierced by bullets, was leaking. Authorities said this constituted a fire hazard.

About noon union strikers and sympathizers stopped firing on the beleaguered plant pending the arrival of William Crayford, president of the International Association of Machinists, and Sheriff E. L. Burr with warrants charging men who entered the premises under a tear gas barrage with holding a riot. A. F.

It's "Stripped for action"!

Poorly refined motor oils, like a swimmer with all his clothes on, can't do an efficient job. They carry too much excess baggage—waste that should be "stripped off" by refining.

Most 25c oils, like a swimmer stripped of part of his clothes, are rid of some performance. No enough for best performance. No refiner of 25c oils could afford to go further, before Gulf's Multi-sol process was perfected.

GULFLUBE MOTOR OIL, like a swimmer stripped for action, is rid of every bit of excess waste. It's the only Multi-sol-made 25c oil—the finest, purest oil a quarter ever bought. Gulflube gives you better lubrication, lower bills and a cleaner motor. Prove it—at the Sign of the Orange Disc.

Will, you are staying long, said Edward Perry. He just had just signed the book in a firm and micro scope in hand said, "I hardly know you."

Kingsley Hyton counted his steps to the police cottage. As there used to be, sir, he said. "It's more pictures than prayers nowadays in a manner of speaking."

FAMILY DINNER HELD AT MEERER
Special to The Star
MEERER, June 18.—A family dinner was held Sunday at the home of Mrs. Nellie Gamble. Guests were Mr. and Mrs. Leola Osborne and daughter, Joane, of Wheelersburg, Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Gamble and children of Wooster, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Creviston and Mr. and Mrs. Harold Snyder and son of Agosta, and Mr. and Mrs. Paul Boyd of Fostoria.

A miscellaneous shower was given at the home of Miss Martha Neville in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Creviston, who were recently married. Refreshments were served. Mrs. Creviston, before her marriage, was Miss Isabel Gamble.

The Turk wrote that the chain will produce more than 75,000 stamps for each participant. The person to whom Mr. Cheney was instructed to send five stamps lives in Copenhagen, Denmark. Others on the list are a resident of Iceland and three other Turkish residents.

Monday with Earle Mann, Miss Marguerite Forest presided. Out door games were played with Martha Neville in charge. During the business meeting Miss Virginia St. John was enrolled as a new member.

Affecting Commerce.

The unanimous opinion of the United States fifth circuit court of appeals that the national labor relations board lacks the right to regulate employer-employee relations in manufacturing widens the judicial grave toward which the labor relations act has been stumbling since its passage a little less than a year ago.

The court of appeals decision is based on the supreme court's ruling in the Guffey coal act case—"the labor relations board has no jurisdiction over a labor dispute between employer and employee touching the discharge of laborers in a plant who were only engaged in manufacture."

The powers of the board as set forth in the act are made contingent upon the contention that certain practices in dealing with labor affect commerce. All the courts can do is to make plain that the commerce must be interstate in order to warrant the exercise of federal authority. That was the point of the supreme court's ruling in the Guffey coal act case; it is the point in the fifth circuit court of appeals ruling.

The weakness in the labor board was pointed out when it was created. It has been emphasized with increasing sharpness as the board has attempted to exercise an authority it simply could not have under the existing Constitution. It is not strange that some labor leaders are beginning to ask why the administration should expect them to be grateful for a thing which doesn't work and which every reasonably well informed lawyer knew couldn't work when it was created.

Simply No Excuse.

Miss Perkins, secretary of labor, must have made some hits in those "three long years," even though she has struck out on some occasions. She might merit another term should President Roosevelt be re-elected. But impartial observers, mindful of a plague which demoralized America a little more than a year ago, might well deem the methods she has chosen to boost Democratic chances.

Believe it or not, Miss Perkins has accepted the chairmanship of a chain letter campaign for the reelection of Mr. Roosevelt. Long suffering Americans will not need to be reminded how the letter plague works. Nor will they have to stir their memories long to recall how chain families, with blood lust aroused, demand the heads of persons breaking the precious links.

The chain letter scheme, a new disease threatening to lay America low, calls for five ladies to gather over the tea cups or evening stews, to tell each other how good the Democrats are, then for each of the ladies to rally forth, vowing to hold one of her own quintuplet dinners, luncheons or teas.

Thus, champions of liberty will assert, is not a partisan issue. If America is to be saved from something, as always we are being assured it must, let the salvationist first blast in the chain scourge. If Americans must be kept "five conscious," the Dionnees can be relied upon to do that.

"Excessive Particularism."

Declaring the League of Nations has failed to generate a feeling of international loyalty, Sir Samuel Hoare, newly appointed to the British cabinet as first lord of the admiralty, proposes the world be divided into six economic units to promote cooperative action.

Raising his plan on Aristide Briand's vision of a United States of Europe 10 years ago, Sir Samuel would have continental Europe as one economic unit, Great Britain and its empire as another, the United States and the South American countries as a third, Soviet Russia as the fourth and the rest of the world grouped into the other two units. He sees the world suffering from "excessive particularism" and declares the failure of Geneva to develop international loyalty has fostered this spirit of particularism. With this proposed alignment, he believes, nations would be coordinated into cohesive economic units, such as the British Empire, which would be spurred to cooperate and not contend with each other.

If surprise is stirred over Sir Samuel's frank denial of the league's usefulness, it might give way quickly to speculation over this new proposal to end proposals. Many commentators will agree with the British cabinet member. World progress is retarded by the excessive particularism or nationalism of the multitude of nations. But such a concession will not eliminate difficulties in the way of putting the plan into action.

Without a doubt, many nations have good reasons to fear they have not adequate access to vital raw material sources. Their fears are actualized in the war spirit pervading Europe. That, for instance, is just one of the staggering difficulties planners of a United States of the world would face. Balcram Hoare has a product that arouses interest, but cautious buyers will hesitate to make commitments until many things are made much clearer to them.

In Favor Of It.

Gov. Davey has borrowed part of a page from the campaign book of his principal contender for the governorship nomination in the Democratic primary. He, too, is willing, now that he has the nomination, to take a stand against at least part of the Ohio sales tax. During the primary campaign, when Rep. Stephen M. Young was objecting to the sales tax, Gov. Davey had nothing to say against it.

His proposal to repeal the tax on food consumed in the home as of Sept. 1 must be viewed as a political move, since that is obviously what it is. It seems likely the governor does not have high hopes of legislative action on his proposal, though many assemblymen have a political motive at least as strong as Mr. Davey's for appearing to be in favor of the recommendation.

Certain facts interfere, however, with political good will building in the case. Naturally, politicians would like to remove the sales tax from food consumed in the home and from as many other things as possible. At the same time, they can not ignore the hard fact that there is a place for all the money the sales tax can produce. Neither can they overlook the probability that if they make one breach in the tax's structure, there will be demand for other exceptions, clothing, for instance.

No one is enthusiastic about a sales tax, which represents about the last resource in sweating revenue from an unwilling public. It is painfully clear, however, that if people demand a constantly greater list of expensive services from government, sales taxes and even more irritating forms of taxation are going to be the price to pay. The gentlemen who enthusiastically are in favor of letting up on taxation will prove their sincerity when they declare themselves in favor, also, of letting up on spending.

Still Open to Question.

A Cleveland woman, wife of a manufacturer, has brought suit against state officials and members of Ohio's liquor control board in what amounts to an attempt to put the state out of the liquor business.

The list of charges made by Mrs. Mabel M. Quarrie, plaintiff, is long. Most prominent are charges that the liquor monopoly is without constitutional sanction from either Ohio or federal laws; that the state has suffered financial loss of $1,000,000 by overstocking of various "inferior and unpopular brands;" that its "ostensible profit" of $6,000,000 for 1935 would largely be written off if standard accounting allowances were made for the unduly heavy inventory; and that continuation of the monopoly will mean continuation of the loss to the taxpayers.

At the moment, of course, the outcome of the suit is problematical. Yet the charges are serious enough to warrant consideration if sincerely and justifiably made. It will be remembered that when the 18th amendment was repealed many influential persons favored the adoption of a liquor monopoly by this state. These persons were not so much convinced of the infallibility of such a system as they were interested in making an experiment with what they thought might be the best form of liquor control. There was much evidence in past history to justify their reluctance to give liquor "back to the drug store" before they had experimented with another possible solution.

Today, state liquor monopoly still is in an experimental and probationary stage. If the inferences under Mrs. Quarrie's charges be proved true—that political manipulation is causing the monopoly to be run in political instead of business fashion—there will be some cause for further consideration of the problem. But impartial observers will not be eager to indict a system that has not yet had a lengthy trial.

Price Fixing Hit by Sen. Wheeler

Liberal Democrat Sees Threat of Fascist State; Speech Called Challenge to Both Political Parties.

BY DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright, 1936, by The Marion Star

WASHINGTON, June 18.—There appeared in these columns yesterday a statement to the effect that the new Guffey bill, with its price-fixing provisions, was a step in the direction of fascism.

Today there is presented here the testimony of Sen. Burton K. Wheeler, chairman of the interstate commerce committee of the United States senate, a liberal Democrat, a champion of the masses of consumers and an arch-opponent of monopoly in America. Sen. Wheeler discusses all manner of price-fixing thus:

"Consider the implications of ultimate price-fixing for trade and industry by either the government or private groups. It radically changes our form of government. The government would be forced into a system of regimentation of industry that would not only be onerous to the people but that might very well be inefficient. Certainly the greatest totalitarian, bureaucratic state the world has ever seen would be the result."

"Price-fixing by private groups will inevitably lead to price-fixing by government. It will be a fascist state in every sense of the word."

Sen. Wheeler's remarks were made over the National Broadcasting Company's system, entirely apart from any discussion of the Guffey bill, but an examination of the proposed price-fixing by a government agency in the coal industry will reveal that the Montana senator has described price-fixing as a vicious practice no matter where practiced.

"Our American society," he says, "has been based on competition, but the plain truth about it is that lately we have been tending toward service to the competitive system, and in fact have been getting further away from it all the time. Whether or not we are going to have the competitive system or are going to have price-fixing, not only by industry but by agriculture and labor and every other section of trade and industry, is something the American people must choose while the choice is left open to them."

"At the outset it must be stated that, with the present personnel of the supreme court, we must have a constitutional amendment before we can do anything toward fixing prices for either agriculture or labor."

Sen. Wheeler is right. The majority of the supreme court insists that, if the power of the people are in any way abbreviated, the court itself shall not do the abbreviating but the people shall surrender whatever rights they yield through an amendment to the Constitution. In any way, the justices who prefer to err on the side of the people by giving the latter a chance to pass on such vital issues as wage-fixing and price-fixing might well be classified as the progressives who look toward the liberal form of government, while the justices who believe in amendment by "judicial construction" might be said to be accepting the theory of an all-powerful state which has powers superior to those of the people.

Sen. Wheeler wants the people to pass on the issue of price-fixing. He proposes to both parties that they consider this platform.

"I believe that there is inherent in all price-fixing an economic fallacy. Prices, if fixed, are placed at levels so as to protect producers generally, irrespective of their efficiency. They are fixed at levels higher than would result from the free play of competitive forces under the law of supply and demand."

"In our judgment, therefore, price-fixing cannot succeed because it creates and fosters the very things which lead toward depression and economic catastrophe. It tends to destroy the ability of the masses to purchase goods, consume them and return again to the market for more. It tends constantly to increase the lack of balance between producing power on the one hand and consuming and purchasing power on the other."

"The remedy, we believe, is a return to price competition and a strict enforcement of the anti-trust laws."

The senator says the American people should know what they are getting into if price-fixing is introduced as a national policy and he adds that he is not ready to believe "that the American people are yet willing to so radically change their form of government."

The importance of Sen. Wheeler's speech is that it is a challenge to both political parties. His doctrine is not far different from that of Sen. Borah, Republican, who has been attacking monopolistic practices and price-fixing. As a matter of fact, Sen. Wheeler's proposals can hardly be accepted without embarrassment by the new deal administration because the latter, through the NRA, was willing to suspend the anti-trust laws and has now endorsed the Guffey bill which establishes price-fixing as a governmental policy in the coal industry.

Gov. Landrum, the Republican nominee, has, therefore, a real opportunity to take up Sen. Wheeler's plea. It is in conformity with the platform generalities adopted at the Cleveland convention. Will the Kansas governor make the same kind of speech in his campaign as has the Montana senator, or will he be influenced by that section of industry and business which wants price-fixing either by the government or by its own trade bodies so as to attain virtual monopoly through a "stabilized" price that protects the inefficient and gives a large margin of profit to the efficient?

Mr. Wheeler has made a most striking speech on the issue of fascism versus Americanism because it is really at heart a contest between monopoly and competition. The passage of the Guffey bill will commit the new deal to the Fascist idea and the proposal to include in the Democratic platform a declaration in favor of amending the Constitution to give the federal government power to regulate prices in agriculture and industry is the natural sequel to such a move.

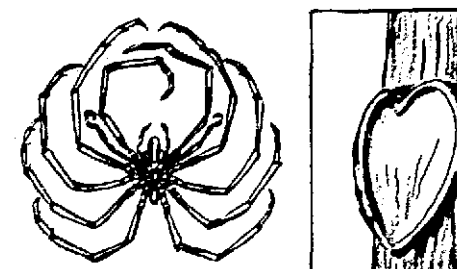

The possibility of an outbreak on this issue at the forthcoming platform discussion in Philadelphia would be greatly increased if this were not a year in which the delegates are chosen by the administration itself. For obviously there is a revolt on against Fascism among the truly liberal members of the Democratic party, or new deal party as it lately has come to be known.

NEW PROBLEM.

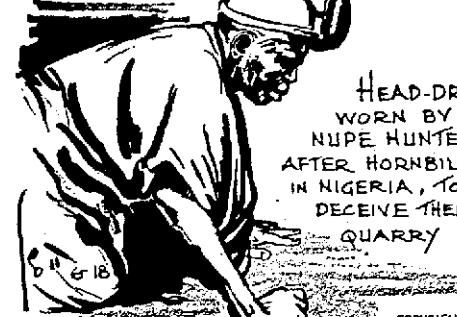

Things are growing more complicated every day. Now that Lincoln Ellsworth has acquired title in behalf of the United States to 350 thousand square miles of territory in the antarctic, won't Mr. Wallace have to organize an expedition to go down there and plow under every third penguin?

PARIS DENIES S. DEMANDS

Ambassador Asks Against Strikers Hospital.

PARIS, June 15.—The French ambassador to the United States, Georges Bonnet, today refused a personal appeal from the American ambassador, Charles G. Duggan, to send French strikers to a hospital in Paris.

Straus asked that the striking assistants, and other employees, be sent to the hospital at Neuilly-Sur-Seine, an occupational institution could not be regarded as an care of 85 patients.

American and 23 of the French strikers, who were in a serious condition, demanded shorter hours.

Officials said the ambassador's request was refused on the grounds that police action would cause trouble which might result in the death of the strikers.

100,000 More in Spain

PARIS, June 15.—The French government today announced that 100,000 more Spanish refugees had been received in France.

The government said that the refugees were in a serious condition, and that the government was doing everything possible to help them.

As called at the end of the long debate between legislators of the two houses, which had passed widely different bills in response to President Roosevelt's demand for tax legislation.

Chairman Doughton, Democrat of North Carolina, of the house committee expressed confidence that tonight "we shall be able to pass the bill over to the drafting service." After it is drawn, it will be ratified by both chambers.

Although none of the legislators could make public data on the measure, it was known that it was reached after discussion of a compromise proposal including:

- A graduated normal tax on corporate income, the levy ranging from 5 to 15 per cent.
- A levy ranging from 6 or 7 per cent to 25 per cent on undistributed corporate income.
- It was revealed definitely by the committee that the house delegation had yielded to the senate and agreed to impose a normal tax on corporate income. Previously, the house had called for repeal of the present normal tax, now ranging from 12 1/2 to 15 per cent, and the substitution of a new graduated levy on net income, ranging from 5 to 25 per cent and dependent on the percentage of income withheld from distribution to shareholders.

The senate had voted only a 10 per cent tax on undistributed profits, while calling for a normal rate of 15 to 18 per cent on net corporate income.

June Funds Spent

Mr. Abel said, Food orders for June 15-30 have already been sent. As a result, little hardship is expected during the remainder of this month.

Mr. Abel said that $5,328.46 has been spent to yesterday, including the expenditure for June food orders, according to Mr. Abel.

A factor which makes the relief fund so dependent on WPA funds, Mr. Abel said, is that 98 per cent of the married men now unemployed are in the age groups of 40 to 65, and report that their industry will not employ them because of their age. Employment projects are considered their only possibility.

Except for the lack of money, the situation here shows improvement over a year ago.

Mr. Abel reported, Today the unemployment is about 40 per cent of the population, while it also has been the number receiving relief has gone up.

Mr. Abel said that the men on relief are those who are in the labor type, all of whom are having been on relief for a long time.

mental work, he asserted, the industrial commission has brought workmen's compensation cases up to date for the first time in the state's recent history, and that further improvements to speed the handling of cases will come later.

Defends Prison Changes

He discussed the controversy that grew out of his dismissal of Warden Preston Thomas of Ohio penitentiary, charging the warden was inefficient and played favorites with guards and prisoners, told of dismissal of the warden of the women's reformatory at Marysville which he said had been a "hell hole," and told of conditions that led to a change in management of the Sandusky home for veterans.

In his discussion of finances, Governor Davey asserted he had to choose between economies or new taxes. He said his problem was to meet expenses that had grown as a result of enactment of old age pensions and relief requirements with a state income that was only about two-thirds as large as during the administration of former Governor Cooper. Deciding to cut expenses rather than levy new taxes, he said he used the veto to slash state appropriations $11,000,000 by administrative economies and asserted his spat with Harry Hopkins, federal relief administrator, saved Ohio about $18,000,000 in relief expenses. As a result, the state had a surplus of $7,000,000 on Jan. 1—a reserve fund later taken by the legislature to meet relief needs, he said. Had it not been for this reserve, new taxes would have been required, he said.

Of his controversy over paying appropriations for Ohio State university, he said he allowed the university $172,000 more than it had received in the preceding two years and that the only items he chopped off proposed increases totaling $1,250,000 sought by the university. He charged the university had $15,000 in its coal fund at a time when it was talking about the danger of closing the institution for lack of fuel.

Talks on National Issues

The governor wound up his talk by discussing national administration issues, declaring President Roosevelt had in three years started the nation on a new era of prosperity after a period of trying times that had resulted from the administrations of three Republican Presidents.

Governor Davey was accompanied by LaRue by Francis G. Tolson, state Democratic chairman, Frank West, registrar of the division of motor vehicles and Frank Schneider of the registrar's office, Dennis Dunlavey of the division of securities, Capt. J. F. Gatton and Capt. Henry N. Smith of the National Guard, and Clarence H. Knisely, secretary of the state utilities commission.

William Campbell of LaRue and Elmer Blazer, president of the LaRue Business Men's association, welcomed the guests at the banquet. The Lima quartet, made up of state highway department employees division No. 1 with headquarters at Lima, took part in the banquet program and also the rally that followed. The LaRue school band, under direction of William Dowler of Marion, a LaRue quartet, Mrs. Ward Crum of near Green Camp and Billy Johnson of Agosta took part in the rally program. Herbert Davis of LaRue served as general chairman of the rally.

Democratic candidates for county offices were introduced.

PROBE OF MOORE MURDER CLOSED

EAST ORANGE, N. J., June 15.—The E. McFarlan Moore murder investigation was closed by authorities today with a ballistic report which the prosecutor's office said showed the inventor and former Thomas A. Edison associate was slain by bullets fired from the gun with which Jean Phillip Gebhardt committed suicide.

No further ballistic check was planned, said William A. Wechenfeld, Essex county prosecutor, and that the inquiry was closing, except that a detective was trying to find something in Gebhardt's Staten Island (New York) home which might disclose a motive.

DROP IN PENSION REQUESTS REPORTED

State Chief Says New Applications Down About 50 Per Cent from Peak.

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., June 15.—Henry J. Berrold, chief of the state aid for the aged division, said today new applications for old age pensions had dropped about 50 per cent from their peak period and predicted that by the end of this year the division would reach the "saturation point" with about 110,000 pensioners on the rolls.

At the present time the division of aid for the aged is paying pensions to approximately 90,000 men and women. Berrold said requirements for pension payments under the state law forced rejection of about 28 per cent of all applications received.

During the first year $14,000,000 was distributed in pension checks, and at the present time, Berrold said, the system is distributing approximately $13,500,000 a month.

There are plenty of funds available to handle the old age pension load at its peak, he said.

RUSSIAN NOVELIST, MAXIM GORKY, DIES

which the Russian novelist and revolutionary propagandist adopted, means "The Bitter One." He was the son of a poor journeyman upholsterer and was left an orphan at the age of five years.

During his years of drudgery, Gorky read greedily every book he could lay his hands upon, and this, together with his experience in many humble forms of life, gave him the foundation for the books he wrote in reality.

Following his first story Gorky attracted wider attention by his tale called "Chelkash" (Russian Wealth). This was followed by a series of stories in which he sketched with realistic success the life of the bosalaki, or tramps. His favorite type, however, was the man in revolt against society. Through his years of association with that class, he wrote from personal knowledge and easily enlisted the sympathy of his readers.

In the spring of 1906 he came to America where he was at first received as a popular idol, but when it was learned that "Mama Gorky" with whom he was traveling was in reality "Mile. Androleva," and not legally married to the revolutionist, a revolution of sentiment set in, and society refused to have anything more to do with him. Admission to New York hotels was refused him. Finally, after a period of seclusion, he left America, bitterly denouncing the country. In 1907 it was learned that Gorky, who was then staying on the island of Capri, near Naples, had married Mile. Androleva.

In 1913 he was included in an amnesty conceded by Emperor Nicholas, but declined at first to avail himself of it. In 1914, however, falling health and a longing to see his country caused him to go back to Russia. It was said then that he was afflicted with consumption, a disease which he claimed to have contracted during confinement in Russian prisons.

Shortly after the outbreak of the World War, Gorky enlisted in the Russian army and was sent to Galicia, where he served as a private and was several times under fire.

STRUGGLE ON RELIEF MEASURE CONTINUES

tion, would permit persons on strike or refusing to accept employment below prevailing wage scales or for which they were not fitted to receive state relief benefits.

Squabbling continued over Gov. Davey's proposal to exempt food purchased for home consumption from the sales tax and broke out over an $800,000 deficiency and sundry claims bill.

Rep. Frank R. Uible, Democratic floor leader, introduced a bill to carry out the exemption and Chairman P. E. Ward, Republican of Geauga, said his taxation committee might not get to it for two weeks.

Ward, discussing Davey's estimate that the exemption would cut only $12,000,000 from the sales tax yield, predicted instead it would cut $18,000,000.

Rep. Albert J. Myer Jr., Republican of Hamilton, asserted the former sundry claims bill "proves the contention of members of the house and the finance committee that Governor Davey is claiming to save money by vetoing appropriations and then asking us to pass deficiency bills which he signs to make up for the cuts."

The bill, containing $738,381 to make up 1923 deficiencies and $90,817 for sundry claims against the state as a result of Davey's vetoes in the budget, went through the house on a 97-2 vote and returned to the senate for concurrence in minor amendments.

Rep. Ruth Lloyd, Democrat of Scioto, introduced a bill to validate the issuance of bonds in connection with federal aid grants which had failed because of technicalities in proceedings.

Eden Draws Fire from Foes in Sanctions Talk

Announcement in House of Commons Brings Cry of "Shame! Resign."

By The Associated Press

LONDON, June 15.—Opposition members of the house of commons shouted "Shame! Resign!" after Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden today when he announced Great Britain would lead a move for the lifting of League of Nations' sanctions from Italy.

From government benches there came a little lively cheering, but the roar of "shame!" created turmoil in the house.

Eden himself assumed much of the responsibility for the government's about-face on the question of the sanctions applied in an effort to prevent Italy's conquest of Ethiopia.

The storm of shouts burst out after Eden had announced: "His Majesty's government, after much consideration on advice which I, as foreign secretary, thought it my duty to give, has come to the conclusion there is no longer any utility in continuing these measures as a means of pressure on Italy."

Special precautions were taken in the house to prevent demonstrations. Vigilant attendants paced the galleries to maintain order.

David Lloyd-George, war-time prime minister, was chosen to lead the opposition's slashing attack on the government's reversal of policy.

Lloyd George declared Eden was going to Geneva to smash the League of Nations and asserted: "There is nothing but anarchy as an alternative. There will be international anarchy the moment this is known."

The lobbies of the house of commons were the scene last night of a desperate, last-minute effort by sanctionist advocates to turn the tide against the government.

RAINFALL CHEERS DRY AREAS IN OHIO

gricultural department officials in describing the plight of farmers in that area during the past few weeks as follows:

Area Parched

"Southern and southeastern Ohio," Ramsower said, "are very dry. I received a report that corn had not come out of the ground yet on one Lawrence county farm. Another report described the general section as 'dry as 1930.'"

"There has been no rain to speak of since April in that section. Pastures and meadows are bad. Corn has been hit. Wheat is in a little better shape."

Zanesville, in the heart of the rich Muskingum valley, had its first rain since June 8 last night. E. A. Fleming, chief of the division of markets in the agricultural department, predicted southern Ohio's early cabbage would yield scarcely 10 per cent of a normal crop and potatoes would be far below normal.

In previous years pools of gardens in the Muskingum and Ohio valleys have shipped more than $1,000,000 worth of fine early cabbage, potatoes, and tomatoes from limited areas in a 60-day season to eastern markets on special produce trains.

Marketing division officials said early cabbage prices had risen from the normal $15 to $20 a ton to $60. Proportionate risks were noted in potatoes.

Reports from the garden areas to the marketing division described the early tomato crop, as well as the crop for canning purposes, as "fair or good."

Along with the threat of a dry season came more reports of its companion scourge, grasshoppers, preying on midwestern crops and giving rise to calls for outside aid.

Reports of the season's highest temperatures were numerous, with the mercury hitting well above the century mark.

Volunteer Firemen Die While Battling Blaze in Mill Near Toledo.

By The Associated Press

TOLEDO, O., June 15.—A volunteer fire chief was killed near here early today in a futile attempt to rescue his son, also a member of the fire company, who was entangled in broken electric wires.

Edward Brown, 55, chief of the Rossford fire force, and William Brown, 22, are dead.

The Rossford fire truck was called to Maple Alfalfa mill on the Terminal railroad southeast of Toledo where a blaze was started by a short circuit. William Brown cut wires leading into the mill. It is believed by other firemen that these fell on broken high tension lines that Brown did not see. The young man's scream attracted his father who was killed. SHERIFF IS ACCUSED BY SHARE CROPPERS

By The Associated Press

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., June 15.—The Southern Tenant Farmers' union today accused an eastern Arkansas sheriff of "overlooking" the flagging of a woman and a man in an effort to discredit the union.

This charge was made shortly after Attorney General Cummings indicated in Washington that the federal government might investigate this latest episode in a prolonged strike of cotton field hands.

H. L. Mitchell, S. T. F. U. secretary, issued a statement accusing Sheriff Howard Curdin of Crittenden county of ignoring the flagging of the Rev. Claude Williams, Little Rock minister, and Alex Willie Sue Bladen, 29-year-old Memphis woman.

G. O. P. NOMINATIONS BOOSTS PARTY FUND

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, June 15.—The nomination of Gov. Alf M. Landon and Col. Frank Knox as the Republican team in the presidential race was credited today by Charles B. Goodspeed, the party's new treasurer, with swelling the campaign war chest with "surprising" speed.

Before the Cleveland convention named the Kansas for president and the Chicago publisher for his running mate, Goodspeed said the sale of "double certificates"—Republican campaign "shares" for which contributors pay $1—ran about 700 a day.

Last Saturday, the day after the ticket was completed, the sale zoomed to 1,500, the treasurer added, and on Monday of this week the day's total was 2,500.

"It's a peculiar thing," Goodspeed declared in an interview. "And the only way I can account for it is popular approval of the Landon-Knox ticket."

The war chest held between $250,000 and $260,000 at the close of the Cleveland convention, Goodspeed said. It was the first time Republicans had not emerged from a convention with a bare money cupboard.

MOB IS THWARTED IN LYNCH ATTEMPT

Trouble Follows Slaying of Officer in Negro Celebration Over Bonus Arrival.

By The Associated Press

EL CAMPO, Tex., June 15.—A mob of about 300 persons, balked in an attempt to lynch nine Negroes, gave up a search for their quarry today to return here and burn the cafe where a white officer was slain while trying to quiet a bonus celebration.

Whereabouts of the nine Negroes, five men and four women, was kept secret during the night as they were whisked from jail to jail. The mob, armed with sawed-off shotguns and including some women, stormed the jail at Wharton and lay City only to find the intended victims gone.

As the restaurant went up in flames it was not decided immediately whether the crowd would be assembled later today to continue the hunt. Tip Simmons, a deputy sheriff, was slashed with knives and razors when he attempted to stop a disturbance at the gay celebration early yesterday.

Officers said the cafe proprietor was not connected with the slaying but the mob, enraged over being baffled by the officers' prompt action, gave vent to its fury by firing the scene of the crime.

Simmons was slashed to death when he attempted to quell a disturbance at a Negro eating place. Simmons, a city employee, sometimes acted as a special officer. The Negroes were celebrating arrival of bonus bonds.

FEDERAL RELIEF BILL GOES TO PRESIDENT

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, June 15.—Congress completed action today on the $2,375,000,000 relief-deficiency appropriation bill and sent it to the White House.

Congressional action on the long-fought measure carrying $1,425,000,000 for relief was completed when the senate agreed to elimination of the ship canal.

Final action on the relief measure left only the tax bill standing in the way of congressional adjournment Saturday night.

As finally passed by congress, the deficiency bill carries $1,425,000,000 for work relief, to be turned over directly to President Roosevelt, and reappropriates $950,000,000 for a new public works program.

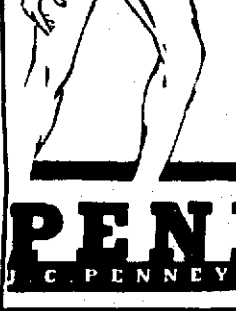

ACCUSED ON STAND IN MURDER TRIAL

By The Associated Press

SPRINGFIELD, O., June 15.—Clarence A. Haislip faced cross examination today on his assertion that he was in bed at the time Luther Chapman was slain.

The prosecution rested yesterday after attempting to show that Haislip killed Chapman because of rivalry over Mrs. Chapman's affection. The defense led a motion for a directed verdict of acquittal after the conclusion of the state's case and Haislip took the stand in his own behalf.

The defendant testified that he was in bed at the home of his parents at the time Chapman was fatally beaten in suburban New Carlisle. His parents, Mr. and Mrs. George Haislip, corroborated his testimony.

PREDICTS ROOSEVELT CHOICE BY ACCLAIM

May Be First So Honored Since Cleveland, Hamilton Sees C O P Victory

By the Associated Press—WASHINGTON, June 13—A prediction that the Democrats would break a precedent of 16 years standing by electing President Roosevelt by acclaim on the first ballot today, heads a Pittsburgh report that the London Times would air overoptimism in no time.

Representative Cannon Democrat of Michigan Democratic convention in parliamentarian for the past 16 years expressed the belief that the convention next week at Philadelphia would name Roosevelt without the formality of a ballot. The first man so honored since Grover Cleveland in 1896.

The prediction of a sweeping Republican victory came from John D. M. Hamilton, national chairman and campaign manager for Gov. Al W. Landon.

Arriving in New York for conference on party finances, he said Democratic chairman James A. Lantry will be in to do some picking to name six states that the Democrats will carry.

Democratic leaders here today were entranced much by their effort in the drafting of the 1936 party platform.

In the Solid South Democratic opposition developed to proposed adoption of the two-thirds nominating rule at the Philadelphia convention. Party men here argued that without such a rule the southern states might conceivably be overwhelmed by a simple majority.
